

Staff Training Week

Accommodation tips

Dear colleagues,

during the Staff Training Week, one or two meetings will take place directly in the Central Library on José Martího street. But on the other days, you will visit several locations around Prague (especially in the city centre), thus the accommodation is up to you.

I can tell you about two options which are related to the university in some way, but you can choose from many other possibilities (like other hotels, Airbnb, etc.):

1. The building in which the Central Library has its seat belongs to the university, and a part of this place is also a hotel named Krystal. The advantage of this hotel is - besides the Central Library is located here - that it is on the way from the airport and near a subway station (named Nádraží Veleslavín). You can look at the website of the hotel here:
<https://www.centrum-krystal.cz/en/>.

CHARLES UNIVERSITY Central Library

2. The second option is another accommodation Charles University provides in the historic city centre. This hotel, named Opitz House, is a delightful historical building. In addition, there is a subway station near the hotel, from where you can get to the station near the Central Library (Nádraží Veleslavín). The Celetná street, where the hotel is located, is close to the Karolinum and the National Library. You will find more information about this hotel and booking options on the website here: <https://cuni.cz/UKEN-289.html>.
